Abstract

Objective: The objective of this study was to explore the Palestinian-American opinion on the human rights violations in Palestine.

Methods: The Case Study Method was used with a Google Form to survey individuals.

Results: The findings showed that Palestinians in the United States are extremely aware of the situation and feel strongly for the Palestinian population.

Objectives

- To help create something that spreads Palestinian-American voices
- To learn more about the Palestinian cause.

Limitations

• Small sample size, therefore less reliability.

Conclusions

• Palestinian-Americans are well-informed and advocate a great deal.

Implications

This study will allow people everywhere to gauge their support and understanding with those of Palestinian descent living in the U.S..

METHODS

· Case study matched pairs design

Additional Information

In this study, there were a total of 20 participants. Data was collected through a Google Form posted online, which contains a list of 23 questions, divided into four separate parts. This parts include a background information section, a questionnaire, a Palestinian diaspora section, and a section for feedback. My research uses these four sections to evaluate to what extent the disregard of human rights has affected Palestinians in America.
